

CONTENTS OF ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

VOL. VIII.

JULY—DECEMBER, 1868.

EMBELLISHMENTS.

BLACK BRUNSWICKER.
HIRAM POWERS.

HON. ANSON BURLINGAME.
THE HUGUENOTS.

CHARLES J. N. A.
BARON VON.

SCIENCE.

Failure of Natural Selection in the Case of Man. Great Eclipse of August 17. Solar Eclipses. Jupiter without his Satellites. Lands and Seas of Another World. Lunar Asses News from Sirius. On Nature and Human Nature. On the Range of the Mammoth. Oneed Planets. On a Piece of Chalk. Popular Expositions of Science. Plurality of Worlds. Projections to the North Pole. Pompeii. Phenomena of Earthquakes. The Science of War. Sea Piece of Chalk. Terrific Earthquakes. The Earth a Magnet. The Sun as a Type of the Universe. The Jewel Garden. Under the Sea. Ventilation and Ventilators. Writing Machines. The Blind. Science.

BIOGRAPHY.

Baron Von Beust. Hiram Powers. Aristotle—His Works and Philosophy. Hon. Burlingame. Lord Brougham. M. Rouher, Minister of France. Madame De Pompadour. De Quincey. Cardinal Wolsey. Dean Milman. Charles Loring Elliott.

HISTORY.

British Arms and Soldiery. Geneva—its Memories and Martyrs. The Heroes of Idrevica. Pleasant Passages from Early French History. The Holy Land. Tragedies of History Incus. Two Abdications—Diocletian and Charles the Fifth. The Garden of Eden. Westminster Abbey. Saint George and the Dragon. The Folk-lore of the Red Man. Curious Myths. Medieval orders. Goddesses of Liberty. Ajaccio.

BELLES LETTRES.

Music in Poetry. Art. Imposture and Credulity. Ideal Women. In Difficulties. Deceit. Disappearances. The Portrait's Warning. American Letters from Europe. A Night in tubs. A Long Man. Luck in Families. La Femme Passée. Singular Fulfillment of a Prediction. Spays. Studious Women. Conversational Observances. Companions of Death. Old Girls. Leave My Mediterranean Journal. Lady Novelist. The Night Wanderer of an Afghan Fort. Turkish Gypsy. Man and his Disenchanter.

POETRY.

Christmas Hymn. Gone. Woman's Love. A Night Thought. A Dream. Violet Time a Beloved One. An Evening Thought. An Arab Love-Song. Nature Knows No Loss. Wild Music. To a Bird Singing in the Woods. By the Brook-side. Charles Kean. The Po. Steadfast. Death upon the Mountains. I Never can Forget Thee. The Frankenstein Picture. Angel and the Sunshine. Old Songs. The Bride's Dream. The Hulks in the Medway. Ec. A Sea-Shell. Mouth to Ear. The Mountain Brook. London Lyrics. An Epitaph. Twilight. Everlasting Now. Orestes. Nelly. The Pleiades. The Long Story. To My Friend. C. Cards. Bereaved. The Sea Gull. The Two Sides of the River. The Torrent Hymn. The Angel. Wrecked. The Music of the Spheres. London Lyrics. Faccia.

FICTION.

He knew he was Right, by Anthony Trollope, first 4 chapters. The Blockade (concluded).

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Visit to an Opium House. A Brush with Malays. Women Physicians. Elements of Romanis. The Education of Women. Varieties. Notes on Books.

Why is the Eclectic Magazine the Best?

BECAUSE it selects from the whole field of Foreign Periodical Literature, including translations from the French and German, thus giving it a wider field than can possibly be attained by an original publication.

BECAUSE the articles which appear in its pages are in general written by the very ablest literati in Europe, and contain the very latest discoveries and speculations concerning the subjects treated of.

BECAUSE it is the only magazine in the United States which gives a monthly summary and review of every branch of science throughout the world.

BECAUSE whoever reads our pages for a year will find himself thoroughly conversant with the progress made in Astronomy, Geology, and the other Physical Sciences during that time.

BECAUSE its scientific articles contain none of the baseless speculations which so often stultify the pages of periodical literature, but are directly from the pens of such men as the Astronomer Royal, Richard Proctor, B.A., F.R.A.S., Prof. Huxley, Baron Von Humboldt, Balfour Stewart, and others equally eminent.

BECAUSE it contains nothing which can possibly offend the most fastidious and cultivated taste.

BECAUSE each number is embellished with a fine Steel Engraving, either portrait or historical; and the twelve engravings during the year are worth the subscription.

Why is it the Cheapest?

BECAUSE THE BEST IS ALWAYS THE CHEAPEST.

Every Clergyman should have it; every literary man should have it; every library should have it; every one should have it who desires to develop in his family a cultivated taste in literature, and a knowledge of the intellectual progress of the age.

TERMS OF THE ECLECTIC.

Single Copies.....	$0 45
One Copy, One Year.....	5 00
Two Copies, ".....	9 00
Five " ".....	20 00

Clergymen and Teachers supplied at $4 per year.

Send for specimen copy, 45 cts.

E. R. PELTON, Publisher,

108 FULTON STREET, NEW YORK.